

Triennial Convention Call

Join Pride at Work in Phoenix, AZ August 23-25, 2018

March 9, 2018

Family,

On behalf of the P@W National Executive Board, we're delighted to let you know Pride at Work's triennial convention will be August 23-25, 2018 in Phoenix, Arizona at the Sheraton Grand Phoenix.

Our theme this year, Proud & Powerful, is the very essence of Pride at Work. While President Trump is sowing division and hate amongst working Americans, Pride at Work is engaged in building power for LGBTQ working people to enact our shared agenda.

Please join us in Phoenix to build power for LGBTQ working people, to stand together in solidarity, and to take action in our shared struggles for equality and all working people's rights.

In addition to the amazing programming we have in store, we have a lot of work to do. LGBTQ working people face extraordinary challenges and Pride at Work is more important than ever. In response to these challenges, and the recent changes in both the LGBTQ and the Labor movements, we formed a committee to look at all aspects of the organization and make recommendations for changes going forward. We will seek to ratify these changes at the convention and become a more powerful Pride at Work for the battles to come.

You can find more details about our convention, including hotel information and registration, on our website: www.prideatwork.org/2018-convention

Convention issues will include:

- Empowering LGBTQ working people in the struggle for social and economic justice
- Educating the LGBTQ working people about the union difference
- Raising wages and expanding access to culturally competent healthcare
- Developing strategies for youth and diversity in leadership
- Creating campaign models to build a broad and inclusive labor movement
- Highlighting non-traditional organizing structures
